A screenshot of the Coursera website showing search results for "emotional intelligence". The page has a white background with a blue header. The search bar contains "emotional intelligence" and a magnifying glass icon. To the right of the search bar are links for "Online Degrees", "Find your New Career", "For Enterprise", "For Universities", "Log In", and "Join for Free". Below the search bar, there is a "Filter by" section with two categories: "Subject" and "Skills". Under "Subject", there are checkboxes for "Arts and Humanities", "Business", "Data Science", and "Education". Under "Skills", there are checkboxes for "Accounting", "Adaptability", and "Advertising". To the right of the filters, it says "95 results for 'emotional intelligence'". Below this, there are three course cards. The first card is from the University of Michigan, titled "Emotional Intelligence: Cultivating Immensely Human Interactions", with a rating of 4.6 (21 reviews). The second card is from Yale University, titled "Managing Emotions in Times of Uncertainty &amp; Stress", with a rating of 4.8 (19 reviews). The third card is from the University of California, Davis, titled "Emotional and Social Intelligence", with a rating of 4.7 (1569 reviews). Each card includes a small image and a "Free" badge.
